Additional Notes

- The Country Club of Jackson features 27 holes with the Dogwood nine and Azalea nine comprising the championship course.
- October is typically the driest month of the year in the area, so barring hurricane, the course should be firm.
- Adjacent to the course is a camp called Mule Jail. The name came from the Civil War when locals hid horses and mules on a high spot there next to the Pearl River so the Union soldiers would not capture them.
